

BACKGROUND

Being a nurse can be incredibly rewarding, but it also comes with a variety of challenges. Being a nurse without adequate support can amplify the challenges already inherent in the profession.

These challenges include:

- Overwhelming amount of hourly tasks
- Self-care fails
- Uneven patient assignments
- Burnout risk
- Limited time for patients
- Higher chance of mistakes
- Ineffective communication

PURPOSE

This project aims to underscore the vital role of teamwork in nursing, encouraging a culture of collaboration that ultimately benefits both patients and healthcare providers.

Impact of Teamwork in Nursing

- Patient would get medication on time
- Reduce risk of medical errors
- Increases the likelihood that changes in condition won't be missed
- Better job satisfaction
- More "fair" assignments, manage workload
- Increase trust in each other
- Everyone feels supported
- Effective communication
- Shared decision making
- Safety (red star patients)
- Decreases burnout
- Lower stress
- Continuous learning

Overall happier

Studies Are Showing

There is a significant relationship between job satisfaction and nursing teamwork.

- Up to five times more likely to be satisfied with their current position

Team based healthcare is a core component of patient safety.

CONCLUSIONS

Teamwork in nursing not only enhances patient care but also creates a supportive and dynamic workplace, making the nursing profession even more fulfilling.

REFERENCES

For access to references, please scan QR code.

